

Welcome to our first newsletter for 2017!

A busy start for us this year... we've put our name on the building, added a new product to our portfolio, provided a few tips on managing technology risk and been recognised as one of the top ten risk management solution providers in the Asia Pacific region. We've also joined a FinTech working group and had some meaningful discussions on how companies can be proactive with their technology, environmental and cyber risk.

We hope you're enjoying the last of the summer weather and look forward to catching up in 2017!

Cheers from the Delta team

Welcome to the Delta Insurance Building at 57 Fort Street

We recently acquired the naming rights for our building and we're enjoying our new office space after moving to the eighth floor late last year. We love this part of town so please come and join us for a coffee and say hi to the Delta team any time you're in the neighbourhood. We'd love to see you!

Naming rights

New technologies bring new risks: embracing Technology Risk Management

New Zealand's $7 billion technology sector is our third largest export industry after dairy and tourism. In addition to creating value and thousands of jobs, the local technology sector epitomises Kiwi ingenuity and entrepreneurial flair. Our white paper aims to guide and assist New Zealand technology businesses in managing and understanding the risks they face in providing their technology services and how insurance can be used as part of a comprehensive risk management strategy to lessen their exposure to technology liability risks.

Find out about Technology Risk Management

Flying high and droning on

Our latest UAV Operators insurance (UAV is short for Unmanned Aerial Vehicle) provides companies operating or licensing the service of UAVs and drones with a tailored solution that addresses a range of risks that they often encounter.

Learn more about UAV Operator's Insurance

Kiwi tech businesses must focus on risk management

The NZ tech sector has developed a global reputation for innovation, however the scope of emerging technology stands as both the industry's greatest strength and weakness.

Businesses urged to insure against cyber risk

Sound risk management strategies are essential and should be at the forefront of protecting businesses to address the new and evolving forms of risk surrounding cyber threats.

New Zealand needs to clean up its environmental act

The increase in environmental pollution and contamination incidents in New Zealand means businesses are increasingly vulnerable to the potentially high financial cost.

Delta recognised as one of AsiaPac's top 10 risk management companies

Delta Insurance identified by AsiaPac organisation as having first mover advantage in New Zealand by developing a repertoire of products and successfully targeting key industry verticals.

Delta joins FinTechNZ working group to assist industry development

As one of the larger insurers of tech companies in New Zealand, Delta has joined a working group for FinTechNZ, a group made up of financial innovation and technology participants who want to help connect, promote and advance trends in the FinTech ecosystem.

Navigating insurance in the tech sector

Averill Dickson, Partner at law firm Simmonds Stewart, takes time out with Delta Insurance General Manager Craig Kirk to discuss the finer points of liability insurance in the tech sector. Here are some of the excerpts from the conversation.

Delta Insurance Limited
Level 3, 57 Fort Street, Auckland 1010
PO Box 106 276, Auckland 1143